ALLEGED 'TIGER' OPERATOR HELD

Milton Wainscott is Charged With "Bootlegging" Following Christmas Eve Raid.

L. C. SHARP'S PLACE VISITED

No Affidavit is Filed in Latter Case. Seven Quarts of Whiskey at Wainscott's

The police were active over Christmas, making two raids, and in each instance obtaining a quantity of whiskey. The home of Milton Wainscott, 518 West Second street and the L. C. Sharp meat market in the same street were the two places visited.

The Wainscott home was raided Friday night and the Sharp place on the following night. Any plans that Wainscott had for a Christmas celebration were spoiled by the arrival of the police. They found seven quarts of whiskey at his home and as a result he spent Christmas in jail.

The raid on the Sharp butcher shop failed to produce any great amount of "wet" goods. Two quarts of whiskey and a part of another bottle were taken by the police. At a late hour today no charges had yet been filed against Sharp and there was a certain air of mystery surrounding the activities of the police. Something was expected to develop within the next twenty-four hours.

Because of the amount of whiskey found at the Wainscott home and in taking into consideration the numerous complaints regarding his home, a charge of "bootlegging" was promptly placed against him. Wainscott was unable to give bond. He has been before Mayor Behout twice and questioned on both occasions. Wainscott is said to have obtained his whiskey in Connersville last Thursday evening.

Wainscott is a brother of "Blind John" Wainscott, recently convicted of "bootlegging" and allowed to go on the provision that he leave the city. It was stated by the police that numerous complaints have been made against Milton Wainscott. It was expected that some new developments would result this afternoon in the Wainscott case.

Mr. Sharp explained the presence of the whiskey at his place of business, stating that eleven men, including himself, sent for the whiskey and that the amount found there by the police represented his share. Mr. Sharp stated that the club ordered the shipment and that the parties had obtained their respective amounts. "I intended taking my share home with me Saturday morning, but neglected it," said Mr. Sharp. "Eleven of us chipped in and ordered the whiskey for our Christmas."

Members of Ford Peace Party Trying to Close Breach in Ranks.

(By United Press.)
Stockholm, Dec. 27.—The new management of the Ford peace party was today endeavoring to close the ranks and prevent further cessation following the withdrawal of Governor Hanna of North Dakota and Mrs. Inez Milholland Boissevain.

The whole delegation probably will be called together and urged to bury the war hatchet while on the peace trail.

SILK DRESSES ARE TAKEN

Valuable Packages Disappear From R. F. Scudder's Home.

Two valuable silk dresses just delivered from the dress-maker were either stolen or taken by mistake from R. F. Scudder's porch at 402 West Second street some time before 9:20 o'clock Christmas eve. The dresses were left on the porch between the screen and the front door by the delivery boy some time between 8:45 and 9:15. Miss Helen Scudder expected to take them with her Sunday when she departed for Akron, Ohio, to attend a house party. The return of the dresses will be appreciated, it was stated today, and there will be attempt to punish the guilty persons, even if it proves not to have been a mistake.

CHRISTMAS CHEER SPREAD LIBERALLY

Rushville Cares For Its Needy And Unfortunate Ones And All Enjoy Glad Holiday

MANY GOOD FELLOWS ACTIVE

Christmas comes but once a year and there was little doubt but that Rushville and Rush county people made the best of it. Family dinners were the rule and the exchange of gifts was as frequent as ever at the holiday season.

On Christmas day, even though it was Saturday, a majority of the business houses were closed all day and the remainder were closed during the middle of the day. Today was the day of left-over turkey for dinner and the time for exchanging that gift which did not fit. The stores were occupied much with that class of business.

The Christmas cheer was spread liberally. The Good Fellows cared for more than 300 children and the Salvation Army delivered many baskets of food to provide a Christmas dinner for the needy. The Army had a tree at its church for the little folks Christmas night.

VALUABLES AND PORTER DISAPPEAR

James Ledwitch is Missing From Scanlan House, as is $10, Safety Razor and Rain Coat.

CAME HERE FROM KENTUCKY

James Ledwitch, a dago porter at the Scanlan House, and a new rain coat and safety razor belonging to O. P. Wamsley and about $10 in money from little Katherine Wamsley's bank all disappeared from the Scanlan House last Thursday night while Mr. Wamsley, the proprietor, and his wife and daughter were out for the evening and it is the natural presumption of Mr. Wamsley that the cash and other incidentals were "accompanied by" the youthful porter.

Mr. Wamsley says the cash register was open and he does not understand how it happened Ledwitch passed up such an opportunity as that was. Ledwitch came here several weeks ago from Louisville, Ky., and had been a good employee. He was trusted implicitly at the Scanlan House.

Mr. Wamsley believes he may be able to locate the boy if he sends back here for his mail and leaves an address.

DEAN OF LOCAL BAR SUCCEUMBS

Benjamin L. Smith, 80 Years Old, Civil War Veteran, Dies Saturday Night of Paralysis.

TIRELESS, VIGOROUS WORKER

Military Record One He Had Cause to be Proud of—Active in Political Lie.

Benjamin L. Smith, 80 years old, a prominent attorney and veteran of the Civil war, died Saturday night at 9:45 o'clock at his home in North Harrison street, following a stroke of paralysis suffered last Wednesday. Mr. Smith has been in failing health for the past few years, but his condition was not considered serious until last week.

Mr. Smith retired from the active practice of his profession last January. He was widely known, not only in Rush county and the Sixth District, but all over the state, as an attorney of great ability. He was the oldest member of the local bar association.

Benjamin L. Smith was born in Union township, this county, Nov. 29, 1835. He was a son of Ebenezer and Mary A. Smith, who settled in Rush county in 1834. Mr. Smith spent his boyhood on a farm and in 1853 entered Asbury University, now DePauw University at Greencastle. Upon the completion of his college course he began the study of law in the office of Delaney R. Eckles at Greencastle.

In July 1862 he moved to Columbus, Ind., where he took up the active practice of law. Shortly after moving to Columbus Mr. Smith enlisted as a private in Company D, Sixty-seventh Indiana Volunteers. He proved an efficient soldier and his abilities were such that he was soon promoted to the rank of second lieutenant, then first lieutenant and finally became captain of the company. At the end of the war he was mustered out in this rank. In addition to serving as captain of his company he acted as aide de camp on the staff of Major General John A. McClelland and Major General E. O. Cord, at the Thirteenth Army Corps headquarters from February 1863 until April 1864. During the war he was in the following battles: Munfordsville, Ky., Arkansas Post, up the Yazoo River, Port Gibson, Champion Hills, Raymond, Big Black, two assaults on the works at Vicksburg, through the entire siege of Vicksburg from May 19, 1863 to July 4, 1863, the battle and capture of Jackson, Mississippi, Bayou Teche campaign, battle of Pleasant Hill, Yellow Bayou, Natchitoches, Atchafalaya Bayou, the siege of the forts at the mouth of Mobile Bay and the capture of Forts Morgan and Gaines.

After the war Mr. Smith remained in New Orleans where he practiced law. In March 1867, he returned to the north and settled in Rushville, where he has since been an honored and successful member of the bar. Mr. Smith for many years was an active member of the First Presbyterian church and for a number of years taught a class in the Sunday school of this church. Mr. Smith was a member of the Masonic lodge, the Knights of Pythias, Loyal Legion and the G. A. R.

He was appointed president of the board of trustees of the Soldiers' and Sailor's Orphans' Home at Knightstown by Governor Gray. In July 1886, the buildings of the institution were destroyed by fire and in the reconstruction Mr. Smith played an active and important part. He did not wait the action of the

BIDS FAREWELL TO DR. JAMIESON

Rushville Shows Its Appreciation of Services of Departing Minister by Large Attendance.

RESOLUTIONS ARE ADOPTED

Dr. Jamieson Congratulates City on Spirit of Unity and Fact it is Not Overchurched.

Fine appreciation for the greeting extended to him at his closing service in Rushville and for the earnest co-operation he had met with during his more than five years of ministry in Rushville was expressed by the Rev. A. W. Jamieson at the farewell meeting in his honor at the United Presbyterian church Sunday evening.

The Protestant congregations joined in union service to say goodbye to the Rev. Mr. Jamieson. The ministers of other churches participated in the service. The sentiment of the other pastors was voiced in resolutions adopted by the Rushville Ministerial association and read by the Rev. C. M. Yocum. Dr. Jamieson becomes the superintendent of the synod of his church, covering Indiana and part of Ohio and Kentucky. He held an informal reception following the services and practically everyone bade him good-bye.

"I feel like congratulating this congregation as well as other congregations in Rushville for many reasons, at a time when I am to depart," said Dr. Jamieson at the close of his sermon on "The Mission of the Church." "I congratulate you on being a city not overchurched. There is a field for every one of them. I congratulate you on the splendid spirit of unity that binds you together. I congratulate you on the splendid type of your citizenship that gives emphasis to the work of the Master."

"As this pastorate closes, it closes with the kindest of thoughts for everyone. As we go, it is with the blessing of God on this congregation and all others in Rushville."

"I am glad to meet and greet so many of you tonight," declared Dr. Jamieson at the opening of his sermon, for which he chose the text, "Christ also loved the church and gave himself up for it."

Dr. Jamieson pointed out what the church should be and what the church should do if it accomplishes God's purpose. He declared no greater price could be paid than the price God paid for it and "He values it as high as the price he paid."

"If you have the mind in you," he continued, "as Jesus, the church becomes very dear to you. I am free to say I love the church. I love her ministers; I love her people; I love her brotherhood."

"I don't think it amiss to say I love my own church better than any other. By the same token a man should say he loves his wife better than any other man's wife. I do not take much stock in 'free love' any more in domestic life than in church life. While I love my own denomination, there is not one church that is dearer in my thoughts than the congregation at Rushville. My heart's desire is peace to thee."

The first mission of the church, he said, is to win converts for Jesus. The minister declared God never intended the church to be self-satisfied; to live in ease, but rather intends it should be a method of salvation for lost men.

"That church is a failure," he asserted, "that does not see souls brought to Christ. My earnest prayer is that there will be a man in this pulpit who shall preach the gospel

IN QUEST OF STOLEN HIDES

John L. Koch of Connersville, Here Today, Offers $50 Reward.

John L. Koch, a well known meat dealer of Connersville, was here today looking for nine valuable hides that were stolen from his slaughter house last Friday night. Accompanied by Policeman Yakey, Mr. Koch made the rounds of the various junk and hide dealers, but no trace of his property was found. The hides are valued at $10 each and he has offered a reward of $50 for the capture of the thief. About three months ago Koch was robbed of hides and at that time nine were taken.

LAST PREPARATIONS ARE BEING MADE NOW

Republicans of Rush County Are Expecting Large Delegation For State Wide Love Feast.

ARE GOING IN SPECIAL CARS

Republicans of Rush county today entered the last lap of the preparations to take a mammoth crowd to Indianapolis next Thursday for the state-wide Republican love feast. The Rush county delegation will travel in special cars over the Indianapolis & Cincinnati Traction company's lines, which will leave the station here directly after the morning dispatch at 9:04.

A crowd of several hundred is expected because of the widespread interest that is being taken in the enterprise. Tickets are selling rapidly and the committee would like everyone who anticipates making the trip to purchase at once so that it will be possible to make arrangements. It is announced that there will plenty of room so none will have to stand and that ample accommodations will be made for women.

Republicans leaders here have received word that a big delegation is going from Greensburg, accompanied by a band, and that other counties will send large crowds.

FIRE THREATENS AMMUNITION TODAY

First Time Since Munitions Plots Attracted Federal Attention, Mysterious Blaze Starts.

WAS INTENDED FOR GERMANY

(By United Press.)
New York, Dec. 27.—For the first time since the munitions plot attracted governmental attention, a fire today threatened the destruction of a large supply of ammunition destined for Germany. The origin of the blaze in a warehouse is unknown.

Three million pounds of high power cartridges, several thousand pistols and rifles and a number of modern field pieces were stored in the warehouse by a man named Robert VanCleave. The ammunition is said to have been purchased at the outbreak of the war. The plan was to ship it to South America and then via a neutral European port to Germany.

Comparative quiet was restored at the postoffice today after the unusual rush of Christmas mail. Although business during the holidays is above the average it is nothing compared to that the last days before Christmas.

Through sacrifices on the post-office employees, everyone in Rushville who could be found Christmas day received their gifts. It was five o'clock of that blustering Christmas day when the last foot-weary mail man returned to the office with what few bundles there were undelivered. A few addressed to places down town closed for the day were not delivered, of course. If the carrier were reasonably certain the person was home though no response came to a ring or knock, the parcel was left. Otherwise, it was returned to the office.

The rural carriers called on their patrons Christmas day as usual. It is the only legal holiday of the year that they make the rounds. The eastbound train was late Christmas morning as usual, and the carriers were delayed in starting, so that most of them did not finish their deliveries until about two o'clock in the afternoon.

The parcel post men had the assistance of the clerks else they would not have completed their deliveries Christmas day. Clarence Cross, with the aid of a wheelbarrow, delivered parcels in Main about noon Christmas day. He had the Christmas packages in large mail bags to keep the mdr and emptied one bag at a time.

Charles Brown and John Worthington helped the parcel post man out with his downtown deliveries and then made all deliveries in Perkins street. Co-operation on the part of Uncle Sam's men that no one should be disappointed about that Christmas gift, but it was a sacrifice for them because they spent the holiday toiling while the big majority of the rest of the people were feasting and enjoying the day.

The outgoing mail this Christmas was heavier than ever before. During the six days before Christmas afternoon alone 396 bags of mail were dispatched from the Rushville office. The clerk on duty in the morning did not count the bags he sent, but it is presumed the increase averaged about the same as the afternoon.

There were thirty-eight more bags dispatched the afternoons and evenings of the last six days than last year, which was the heaviest year up to that time. The increase was larger than the number of bags

ALLIANCE TALK ALL FOOLISHNESS

Republicans Regard Story About
Watson and McCray as Pure
Political Buncombe.

SOME OF RUCKER'S DOPE

Enquirer Correspondent, Taking it as Truth, Says Two Candidates
Can't be Blamed.

Robert G. Tucker's political dope in the Enquirer Sunday was that indications pointed to an alliance between the friends of James E. Watson and the friends of Warren T. McCray, candidate for the nomination for governor on the Republican ticket.

Talk of alliances between candidates is regarded as foolish around here. It was stated by some Republicans, after reading Tucker's article, that the mere fact that some of Watson's friends preferred McCray as the candidate for governor did not prove conclusively that there was an alliance. Tucker says McCray seems particularly strong in Shelby, Rush and Henry counties, which are in the district Watson formerly represented in congress. McCray has been strong in these counties from the first, it appears here, because his candidacy appeals to the farmer.

Tucker hastens to explain that neither of the candidates should be blamed for what their enthusiastic friends are doing. He comments on some of the opposition to Watson and recalls some of the things that were used against him in 1908 when he won the nomination for governor. Says Tucker:

On behalf of Watson and McCray it is being said that they ought not be held responsible for the unwise action of their followers in the various counties, yet it is being pointed out that the latter, at least, are inviting acts of reprisal among the friends of the other candidates.

A feature of the situation that is giving the leaders of the party no little concern is the insistent statement, of the opponents of Watson that he can't be elected if nominated. There is a sentiment out-state among men who fear the Progressive vote that it will be difficult to elect Wilson, yet no one knows a year in advance of an election whether a man can win, and the tactics against Watson are liable to bring about a lasting injury to the party if he should be nominated.

Among the McCray boosters, who are very enthusiastic for their chief, there is a disposition to create the impression that Goodrich cannot be elected; that, in fact, McCray is the only candidate who will have a chance on the Republican ticket.

In the fall and winter of 1907, when Watson, C. W. Miller, Hugh T. Miller and William L. Taylor were making a terrific fight to be nominated for Governor, one of the candidates sprung a story that Watson was unfriendly and unfair to organized labor. Men were hired to spread this story about Watson. Petitions were signed and sent to the State Committee to be presented to the state convention protesting against Watson's nomination on the ground that he couldn't be elected.

The men in charge of the state organization had the decency and the courage to burn all of the petitions, so that none of them reached the convention. However, the mischief was accomplished. Watson might have been elected if the county local option planks had not been adopted, but the brewers and the other liquor interests went out and employed the labor leaders who had been lampooning him to aid one his opponents. In spite of all the Republican organization could do, it was unable to bring the union labor forces back into camp.

and win souls for Jesus. Wherever you find a soul-winning church you find a praying church. Wherever you find a man who wins souls for God, you find a praying man.

"If we win souls for Jesus, they must see something in us worth while; something which is worth possessing, at whatever cost. The consistent Christian life is the one that wins souls. After all it is the personal effort that wins for Jesus."

Another mission of the church, he said, is to develop strong, stalwart Christian characters. He declared one of the greatest needs of today to be men who can not be brought for the world's pleasures. To this end, he asserted, the various organizations within the church have their fruitage.

Dr. Jamieson said a third mission of the church is to advance the interests of Christ through missionary activities. He declared it is the part of the church to be unselfish. The greatest heroes the church knows are its missionaries. He said that church is requited to her trust that is not sending the word to others. Dr. Jamieson turned his attention to missionary questions at home.

"If the country is to be held for Jesus," the minister said. "The church must be missionary. It calls for men and money."

He made the assertion that his church here had given more than $5,000 in five years for missionary work outside of Rushville.

The Rushville Ministerial association resolutions regarding the departure of Dr. Jamieson were read at the services by the Rev. C. M. Yocum and were as follows:

"In as much as Dr. A. W. Jamieson has been connected with the Rushville Ministerial Association for the past five years and more, serving as its honored president for a goodly portion of that time, and

"In as much as he has been active in every work in Rushville during that period, laboring most harmoniously with the other ministers and workers, unselfishly connecting himself with every union effort, anxious not only to strengthen the church he most efficiently served as pastor, but to advance the kingdom's interests, and by precept and example honoring our Savior: therefore,

"Be it resolved, that we express our keenest regret at his leaving the city, realizing as we do that we shall miss the advice of a wise counsellor, the guidance of a brave leader, the assistance of an efficient workman and the sweet and sacred fellowship of a true brother in Christ.

"Be it further resolved, that we express our best wishes for his continued success in his new field of labor, and that we assure him that our prayers shall follow him as the memory of our association with him remains with us, a pleasing recollection."

To show its approval of the resolution, the audience, which filled the church to capacity, arose.

indicates. This year there was a shortage of mail bags due to the lack of funds appropriated by congress. This caused an order to be sent from Washington that all bags be well filled, whereas when the supply is plentiful the bags are dispatched in such numbers and filled in such quantities as to make the handling of the mail the most convenient and quickest.

"It shows that the people have been reading the instructions in the newspapers," said Postmaster Hunt today, discussing the mail rush. "Only six persons either called for mail or asked that their insurance tags be filled out. Christmas day we had five men and a horse and wagon delivering parcel post and we had it all out by five o'clock. We all feel deeply indebted to the public for the assistance given us and for the consideration shown the men when their work was heaviest."

dual tariffs,—a general tariff and one which could be fixed by convention. Every departure from the general rate was made by treaty or agreement with some other power. Under the European construction of the most-favored-nation clause, whenever one power makes by treaty one set of rates with some other power it must extend those rates to every other nation with which it has a treaty containing the most-favored-nation clause. This is unlike the American rule of international law, which declares that the United States, having entered into a commercial treaty with a particular country shall extend the provisions of that treaty to another country only on like consideration. For instance, Austria had a general and conventional tariff. We sent her one year $2,000,000 worth of cotton-seed oil. She raised her import duty to a prohibitive rate. No other nation but ours exported this oil to Austria to any extent, hence no one was interested in having a lower duty by convention, with the result that our export of that article fell to $50,000 the very next year after the increased duty went into effect.

Another method used against us abroad was to make a regulation which upon its face applied to all countries but which was really aimed principally at us. To stop these unfair discriminations, by convention or regulation, and also to create a mechanism which would automatically take the place of negotiation, was the purpose of the maximum and minimum clause. Senator Cummins said: "The people of the western country are more deeply interested in this phase of the subject than in any other of the tariffs. Our products are excluded at the present time from France entirely, and they are rapidly being excluded from Germany." The clause provided that after March 31, 1910, a duty of 25 per cent ad valorem additional to the rates prescribed should be levied on all imports from countries discriminating against American goods. Those countries which could show to the satisfaction of the President that they were not discriminating against our goods, should have the benefit of the scheduled rates of duty.

The Democrats jumped on this clause with both feet. Champ Clark, in denouncing the tariff revision, exclaimed: "That is not the worst, however, for on March 31, 1910, an additional increase of 25 per cent ad valorem will be placed on nearly every item—which is protection run mad." Such was the general attitude of the opposition, grossly ignorant as it was of tariff problems. Nothing of the kind happened. By March 22, 1910, every commercial country had qualified for the minimum or prescribed rates. On April first the Treasury Department wired the collectors of customs: "Do not apply maximum tariff to any importations." Discrimination against our goods had ceased. By the beginning of the fiscal year 1911 the clause was in good working order, and due largely to its beneficial effect our exports and trade balances grew rapidly.

"War Raging on the Ford Peace Ship," flashed the wireless. And the world grinned—and laughed—and continued its daily grind without further thought of the farce comedy that is being staged by men who would pose as more omnipotent than God.

The practical utility of the wireless has at last been clearly demonstrated. It kept us in daily touch with His Fordship.

HOOSIER HISTORY

(Prepared for the United Press by the Centennial department of the Indiana Historical Commission.)

MORGAN TAKES TOLL

The Confederate leader did "tit" on Indiana for the "tat" which the South was experiencing. He levied on the country for provisions and fresh horses, etc. The nature of the "tit" is indicated in the following, written by General Basil Duke, one of Morgan's men: "The weather was intensely warm, yet one man rode for three days with seven pairs of skates about his neck another loaded himself with sleigh-bells. A large chafing dish, a medium sized Dutch clock, a green glass decanter with goblets to match, a bag of horn buttons, a chandelier, a bird cage containing three canaries, were some of the articles I saw borne off and jealously fondled. The officers usually waited a reasonable period until the novelty had worn off and then ordered this rubbish thrown away. Baby's shoes and calico, however, were a staple articles of appropriation. A fellow would produce a bolt of calico, carry it carefully concealed for a day or two, then cast it aside to get another.

LOCAL TEAM WINS FROM BROOKVILLE

Takes Close and Exciting Game by Score of 28 to 25—Visitors Doped to Win.

LOCAL TEAM IN GOOD FORM

The Rushville high school team defeated Brookville here last Friday night in a close and exciting game by a score of 28 to 25. The game was exciting from start to finish and was either team's until the final whistle. Towards the close superior team work on the part of Rushville told on Brookville. Martin, Stoops and Caron played well for Rushville and the victory was well earned.

It was the opening game in the new gym and a large crowd witnessed the contest. Brookville by reason of victories over Liberty and other fast teams, came here doped to win but the local team displayed the best form of the year. A drum corps aided in the noise making and the high school celebrated victory with a parade through the business district.

legislature respecting the appropriations that might be necessary, and his associates at once commenced and vigorously prosecuted the work of reconstruction.

In 1876 Mr. Smith was nominated for judge for the judicial circuit composed of Rush, Decatur and Fayette counties, but was defeated in the election. He served on the Democratic state central committee during two campaigns as representative in this congressional district and was a close political and personal friend of Thomas A. Hendricks Governor Isaac Gray and Governor Claude Matthews.

He was married July 27, 1858 to Laura L. Reynolds. She died on June 28, 1871 and he was married at Rushville on November 4, 1873 to Alice W. Wilson, who survives him, together with three children, Mrs. Cora Wilk, Donald L. Smith of this city, and Mrs. Rena Slaughter of Denver, Col. He is also survived by four brothers and one sister.

The late Mr. Smith was a tireless worker and a vigorous and fearless fighter in all his military and professional career. A keen sense of humor was one of his marked characteristics. While his physical strength had been failing for several years his mind was alert and keen until stricken. Generous to a fault, the appeal of the unfortunate and afflicted or those in distress never unheeded by him. He was a man who loved his home to a marked degree and in his declining years his greatest pleasure was in having his family and friends around him in the home which he built in Rushville some thirty-four years ago.

The funeral services will be conducted Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock at the late residence and burial will take place in East Hill cemetery. The services will be in charge of the Knights Templar.

TO HOLD MEMORIAL SERVICE TUESDAY

Rush County Bar Association Arranges at Meeting Today to Attend Ben L. Smith's Funeral.

COMMITTEES ARE APPOINTED

The Rush County Bar Association will hold memorial services in honor of the late Benjamin L. Smith Tuesday afternoon at 12:30 o'clock and following the service the members will march in a body to the late residence and attend the funeral. The arrangements were perfected this morning at a meeting presided over by Judge Will M. Sparks.

Invitations to attend the funeral and notice of his death were sent to the bar associations of the surrounding counties. Mr. Smith practiced law extensively in other counties of the Sixth District and it is expected that many attorneys from a distance will attend the services.

Judge Sparks appointed the following committees: Resolutions—Frank J. Hall, George W. Young and Samuel L. Trabue; Invitation to other bars—J. T. Arbuckle, J. Q. Thomas, B. F. Miller and Judge Douglas Morris; Flowers—Chauncey Duncan, John H. Kiplinger and Wallace Morgan. At the service to be held tomorrow in the court room Judge Morris will respond to the resolutions.

FOR UNITED STATES SENATOR HARRY S. NEW

To the Republicans of Indiana:

I am a candidate for United States senator, subject to the decision of the Republicans of Indiana at the primaries, to be held March 7.

Last spring and summer I was strongly urged to become a candidate by hundreds of friends in every section of the state. At that time the friends of Mr. Hugh Th. Miller felt that that gentleman having borne the burden of the battle in 1914 when success was impossible, was entitled to another nomination this year when victory was assured, and to that opinion I subscribed. The lamentable physical breakdown which has taken Mr. Miller out of the contest, will be deplored by all who know him, and by no man more than I, but it makes a vacancy in the field of candidates into which I feel free to step. I believe I can be nominated, and if nominated, that I can and will receive the undivided support of my party. I believe that the condition of the business interests of our country as they are now, and as they inevitably must be after the close of the great world war which is today engulfing Europe, imperatively demands the election of a Republican congress as well as a Republican President to make certain the adoption of a Republican tariff and other essential measures. The quality and character of my Republicanism is established by the record of more than twenty-five years, during which I was associated with my father, John C. New, as one of the publishers of the Indianapolis Journal, and by many years of service as a member of the state and national committees of the party. I stand ready to be judged by that record.

I realize that the time for making a campaign is now too brief to permit of my seeing all my friends, but I shall devote my energies to seeing as many of them as possible. I ask for their support for this nomination, assuring them that it will be deeply appreciated and that, if elected to the senate, it shall be my endeavor to serve my party and country to the full extent of such ability as I may possess.—adv. HARRY S. NEW.

GERMANY WINS OVERLAND ROUTE

Close of Year 1915 is Characterized

by Kaiser Victory on Land

But None on Sea

ECONOMIC PHASE IMPORTANT

Bulgaria's Entrance Into Conflict on

Side of Teutons is Most Prominent Development

By J. W. T. MASON

(Written for United Press.)

New York, Dec. 27.—Germany has won the overland pathway to her place in the sun, as the close of the fighting of 1915 merges into the second winter of the European war. But the seas still remain shut to the Teutons and economic distress and food scarcity are exerting a more pronounced pressure for peace in the Central Empires than among the other belligerent nations.

The primary cause of the war has been lost this year to both of the original participants. The conflict began over the irreconcilable Balkan difference of Russia and Austro-Hungary. Each power wanted to be supreme in Southeastern Europe. The end of the fighting in 1915 finds Russia held in check beyond the Balkan border, while Austro-Hungary is playing a minor military part in Serbia under the direction of Marshal von Mackensen and the German General Staff. German influences are now dominant in the Balkans. The Kaiser has wrested the first prize of the war from the Slavs themselves, and from his own Southern ally as well.

Bulgaria's entrance into the conflict on the side of the Teutons has been the year's most important development. The military consequence which have followed Bulgaria's action, have given to the Germans a clear road from Berlin to Bagdad. The Mesopotamian metropolis has long been marked by German statesmen to become the Berlin of the Middle East and the center of Germany's place in the sun. The year's events having opened for Germany the rear entrance into Bagdad, the Kaiser must continue to fight to the point of exhaustion for permanent possession of this precious right of way. The British fleet can prevent Germany from expanding overseas, but it cannot block the road to the new empire in the east. This is the dominant reason for Germany's interest in Bagdad.

An Anglo-Indian expedition, after twelve months' toil northward through Mesopotamia from the Persian Gulf, is now trying to enter Bagdad by the front door. But the Turks under German leadership have thrust the invaders ninety miles to the south of Bagdad, and the city at the close of the year remains safe for the Teutons. Nevertheless, during the year's fighting, the British have captured the Garden of Eden and other territory between the Tigris and Euphrates rivers greatly desired by Germany. If the German dream of a Teutonic Empire in the Middle East is to come true, the district between Bagdad and the Garden of Eden, 250 miles to the south, must either be won by a new military offensive, or purchased in the peace conference after the war.

The military developments of the year make it certain that the Russian bear will not be able to take his drink of warm water at the Persian Gulf; and little less than a miracle must now happen to give the Czar Constantinople for an outlet to the unfrozen seas. The British effort to enter Constantinople by way of the Gallipoli Peninsula has failed during the year, and Great Britain is now reluctant to undertake a second costly experiment in southeastern Europe for Russia's sake. The ease with which the Teutons and Bulgarians have been able to overrun Serbia apparently has been due to Great Britain's disinclination to risk wasting her strength in a major Balkan offensive. The odds all favor the Teutonic allies in the Balkans because of their unimpeded lines of communication.

British interest in the Balkan campaign is primarily due to its bearing on the security of Egypt. Lord Kitchener's visit to the Levant during the latter part of the year and his quick return, seem to have created a belief in London that Egypt is not in any immediate jeopardy. The British now apparently have concluded that Egypt can be better defended along the Suez Canal than in the Balkans. The advantage of communication, which the Germans possess in the Balkans, would pass to the British if the Teutons and Turks were to attempt an offensive by crossing the desert to the east of Suez.

The Russians however, are urgently pressing Great Britain to pursue the Balkan campaign. Otherwise the Czar will probably be the war's principal loser. His own troops, waiting, as the year ends, to invade Bulgaria by way of Rumania, can hardly prove equal to the task unassisted. The Teutons, Bulgarians and Turks have certainly 700,000 men available for Balkan operations and this force might possibly be increased to a million. Unquestionably differences of opinion have arisen among the allies during the year because of divergent Balkan military policies. The conflicting interests have not been reconciled in detail as the year ends.

Russia's defeat on her own soil by the combined Austro-Hungarian and German offensives this summer was not sufficiently decisive to cause the Czar to sue for a separate peace. The Grand Duke Nicholas saved the greater part of his armies, and although he was removed from his command because of the loss of Galicia and the Vistula defenses, he prevented the Kaiser from compelling the Czar to surrender. The Russian military failure was followed by the suppression of the Duma, the popular legislative body, and the council of the Empire, the bureaucratic legislative house. The Czar, is now governing by fiat as a complete autocrat, relying neither on the people themselves nor on the bureaucracy.

The year has seen no change of importance along the western battle-front. The French in Champagne, and the French and British in Artois attempted to develop a simultaneous major offensive during the last week in September, but without success. The Germans lost a few miles of trenches, but they were able to check the enemy before the drives threatened to compel a general retirement toward the German frontier. The result of the costly experiment showed that the Teutonic trenches are not impregnable, but also revealed the fact that the Anglo-French general staffs have not solved the problem of following up one successful attack by another in the face of German artillery.

Italy's entrance into the war this year has had disappointing results for Great Britain, Russia and France. The Italians, after seven months' fighting have not gained as much territory as Austria offered to cede last Spring in exchange for Italy's benevolent neutrality. The principal factor working against Italian success has been the superiority which trench warfare gives to an army on the defensive. The Roman government is now facing serious though subdued criticism at home. As the year ends, there are reports that pressure is being exerted in favor of the return to power of the veteran pro-German ex-premier Giolitti. Italy has signed an agreement with the other members of the Quadruple Entente not to make a separate peace, but if Signor Giolitti were to be made Prime Minister he would undoubtedly use his influence for peace at the earliest moment.

The financial situation among all the belligerents has steadily grown more and more serious as the expenses of the conflict during the year have ceaselessly mounted. The total daily cost of the war is now about $85,000,000, two-thirds of which is being paid by the Quadruple Entente, and one-third by Germany and her allies. The British, who have been most lavish in their payments, have also been the most sincere in facing the critical monetary problems of the war. Great Britain alone among the belligerents has begun to shoulder the financial burden of the conflict by accepting large war taxes. Elsewhere the war is prolonged almost exclusively on borrowed money. It is probable that the exhaustion of golden bullets, and the accompanying danger of economic disaster will be the prin-

ALLEGED 'TIGER' OPERATOR HELD

Milton Wainscott is Charged With "Bootlegging" Following Christmas Eve Raid.

L. C. SHARP'S PLACE VISITED

No Affidavit is Filed in Latter Case. Seven Quarts of Whiskey at Wainscott's

The police were active over Christmas, making two raids, and in each instance obtaining a quantity of whiskey. The home of Milton Wainscott, 518 West Second street and the L. C. Sharp meat market in the same street were the two places visited.

The Wainscott home was raided Friday night and the Sharp place on the following night. Any plans that Wainscott had for a Christmas celebration were spoiled by the arrival of the police. They found seven quarts of whiskey at his home and as a result he spent Christmas in jail.

The raid on the Sharp butcher shop failed to produce any great amount of "wet" goods. Two quarts of whiskey and a part of another bottle were taken by the police. At a late hour today no charges had yet been filed against Sharp and there was a certain air of mystery surrounding the activities of the police. Something was expected to develop within the next twenty-four hours.

Because of the amount of whiskey found at the Wainscott home and in taking into consideration the numerous complaints regarding his home, a charge of "bootlegging" was promptly placed against him. Wainscott was unable to give bond. He has been before Mayor Bebout twice and questioned on both occasions. Wainscott is said to have obtained his whiskey in Connersville last Thursday evening.

Wainscott is a brother of "Blind John" Wainscott, recently convicted of "bootlegging" and allowed to go on the provision that he leave the city. It was stated by the police that numerous complaints have been made against Milton Wainscott. It was expected that some new developments would result this afternoon in the Wainscott case.

Mr. Sharp explained the presence of the whiskey at his place of business, stating that eleven men, including himself, sent for the whiskey and that the amount found there by the police represented his share. Mr. Sharp stated that the club ordered the shipment and that the parties had obtained their respective amounts. "I intended taking my share home with me Saturday morning, but neglected it," said Mr. Sharp. "Eleven of us chipped in and ordered the whiskey for our Christmas."

SILK DRESSES ARE TAKEN

Valuable Packages Disappear From R. F. Scudder's Home.

Two valuable silk dresses just delivered from the dress-maker were either stolen or taken by mistake from R. F. Scudder's porch at 402 West Second street some time before 9:20 o'clock Christmas eve. The dresses were left on the porch between the screen and the front door by the delivery boy some time between 8:45 and 9:15. Miss Helen Scudder expected to take them with her Sunday when she departed for Akron, Ohio, to attend a house party. The return of the dresses will be appreciated, it was stated today, and there will be attempt to punish the guilty persons, even if it proves not to have been a mistake.

CHRISTMAS CHEER SPREAD LIBERALLY

MANY GOOD FELLOWS ACTIVE

Christmas comes but once a year and there was little doubt but that Rushville and Rush county people made the best of it. Family dinners were the rule and the exchange of gifts was as frequent as ever at the holiday season.

On Christmas day, even though it was Saturday, a majority of the business houses were closed all day and the remainder were closed during the middle of the day. Today was the day of left-over turkey for dinner and the time for exchanging that gift which did not fit. The stores were occupied much with that class of business.

The Christmas cheer was spread liberally. The Good Fellows cared for more than 300 children and the Salvation Army delivered many baskets of food to provide a Christmas dinner for the needy. The Army had a tree at its church for the little folks Christmas night.

VALUABLES AND PORTER DISAPPEAR

James Ledwitch is Missing From Scanlan House, as is $10, Safety Razor and Rain Coat.

CAME HERE FROM KENTUCKY

James Ledwitch, a dago porter at the Scanlan House, and a new rain coat and safety razor belonging to O. P. Wamsley and about $10. in money from little Katherine Wamsley's bank all disappeared from the Scanlan House last Thursday night while Mr. Wamsley, the proprietor, and his wife and daughter were out for the evening and it is the natural presumption of Mr. Wamsley that the cash and other incidentals were "accompanied by" the youthful porter.

Mr. Wamsley says the cash register was open and he does not understand how it happened. Ledwitch passed up such an opportunity as that was. Ledwitch came here several weeks ago from Louisville, Ky., and had been a good employee. He was trusted implicitly at the Scanlan House.

Mr. Wamsley believes he may be able to locate the boy if he sends back here for his mail and leaves an address.

DEAN OF LOCAL BAR SUCCEUMBS

Benjamin L. Smith, 80 Years Old, Civil War Veteran, Dies Saturday Night of Paralysis.

TIRELESS, VIGOROUS WORKER

Military Record One He Had Cause to be Proud of—Active in Political Life.

Benjamin L. Smith, 80 years old, a prominent attorney and veteran of the Civil war, died Saturday night at 9:45 o'clock at his home in North Harrison street, following a stroke of paralysis suffered last Wednesday. Mr. Smith has been in failing health for the past few years, but his condition was not considered serious until last week.

Mr. Smith retired from the active practice of his profession last January. He was widely known, not only in Rush county and the Sixth District, but all over the state, as an attorney of great ability. He was the oldest member of the local bar association.

Benjamin L. Smith was born in Union township, this county, Nov. 29, 1835. He was a son of Ebenezer and Mary A. Smith, who settled in Rush county in 1834. Mr. Smith spent his boyhood on a farm and in 1853 entered Asbury University, now DePauw University at Greencastle. Upon the completion of his college course he began the study of law in the office of Delaney R. Eckles at Greencastle.

In July 1862 he moved to Columbus, Ind., where he took up the active practice of law. Shortly after moving to Columbus Mr. Smith enlisted as a private in Company D, Sixty-seventh Indiana Volunteers. He proved an efficient soldier and his abilities were such that he was soon promoted to the rank of second lieutenant, then first lieutenant and finally became captain of the company. At the end of the war he was mustered out in this rank. In addition to serving as captain of his company he acted as aide de camp on the staff of Major General John A. McClelland and Major General E. O. Cord, at the Thirteenth Army Corps headquarters from February 1863 until April 1864. During the war he was in the following battles: Munfordsville, Ky., Arkansas Post, up the Yazoo River, Port Gibson, Champion Hills, Raymond, Big Black, two assaults on the works at Vicksburg, through the entire siege of Vicksburg from May 19, 1863 to July 4, 1863, the battle and capture of Jackson, Mississippi, Bayou Teche campaign, battle of Pleasant Hill, Yellow Bayou, Natchitoches, Atchafalaya Bayou, the siege of the forts at the mouth of Mobile Bay and the capture of Forts Morgan and Gaines.

After the war Mr. Smith remained in New Orleans where he practiced law. In March 1867, he returned to the north and settled in Rushville, where he has since been an honored and successful member of the bar. Mr. Smith for many years was an active member of the First Presbyterian church and for a number of years taught a class in the Sunday school of this church. Mr. Smith was a member of the Masonic lodge, the Knights of Pythias, Loyal Legion and the G. A. R.

He was appointed president of the board of trustees of the Soldiers' and Sailor's Orphans' Home at Knightstown by Governor Gray. In July 1886, the buildings of the institution were destroyed by fire and in the reconstruction Mr. Smith played an active and important part. He did not wait the action of the

Rushville Shows Its Appreciation of Services of Departing Minister by Large Attendance.

RESOLUTIONS ARE ADOPTED

Dr. Jamieson Congratulates City on Spirit of Unity and Fact it is Not Overchurched.

The appreciation for the greeting extended to him at his closing service in Rushville and for the earnest co-operation he had met with during his more than five years of ministry in Rushville was expressed by the Rev. A. W. Jamieson at the farewell meeting in his honor at the United Presbyterian church Sunday evening.

The Protestant congregations joined in union service to say goodbye to the Rev. Mr. Jamieson. The ministers of other churches participated in the service. The sentiment of the other pastors was voiced in resolutions adopted by the Rushville Ministerial association and read by the Rev. C. M. Yocum. Dr. Jamieson becomes the superintendent of the synod of his church, covering Indiana and part of Ohio and Kentucky. He held an informal reception following the services and practically everyone bade him good-bye.

"I feel like congratulating this congregation as well as other congregations in Rushville for many reasons, at a time when I am to depart," said Dr. Jamieson at the close of his sermon on "The Mission of the Church." "I congratulate you on being a city not overchurched. There is a field for every one of them. I congratulate you on the splendid spirit of unity that binds you together. I congratulate you on the splendid type of your citizenship that gives emphasis to the work of the Master.

"As this pastorate closes, it closes with the kindest of thoughts for everyone. As we go, it is with the blessing of God on this congregation and all others in Rushville."

"I am glad to meet and greet so many of you tonight," declared Dr. Jamieson at the opening of his sermon, for which he chose the text, "Christ also loved the church and gave himself up for it."

Dr. Jamieson pointed out what the church should be and what the church should do if it accomplishes God's purpose. He declared no greater price could be paid than the price God paid for it and "He values it as high as the price he paid."

"If you have the mind in you," he continued, "as Jesus, the church becomes very dear to you. I am free to say I love the church. I love her ministers; I love her people; I love her brotherhood.

"I don't think it amiss to say I love my own church better than any other. By the same token a man should say he loves his wife better than any other man's wife. I do not take much stock in 'free love' any more in domestic life than in church life. While I love my own denomination, there is not one church that is dearer in my thoughts than the congregation at Rushville. My heart's desire is peace to thee."

The first mission of the church, he said, is to win converts for Jesus. The minister declared God never intended the church to be self-satisfied; to live in ease, but rather intends it should be a method of salvation for lost men.

"That church is a failure," he asserted, "that does not see souls brought to Christ. My earnest prayer is that there will be a man in this pulpit who shall preach the gospel

IN QUEST OF STOLEN HIDES

John L. Koch of Connersville, Here Today, Offers $50 Reward.

John L. Koch, a well known meat dealer of Connersville, was here today looking for nine valuable hides that were stolen from his slaughter house last Friday night. Accompanied by Policeman Yakey, Mr. Koch made the rounds of the various junk and hide dealers, but no trace of his property was found. The hides are valued at $10 each and he has offered a reward of $50 for the capture of the thief. About three months ago Koch was robbed of hides and at that time nine were taken.

LAST PREPARATIONS ARE BEING MADE NOW

ARE GOING IN SPECIAL CARS

Republicans of Rush county today entered the last lap of the preparations to take a mammoth crowd to Indianapolis next Thursday for the state-wide Republican love feast. The Rush county delegation will travel in special cars over the Indianapolis & Cincinnati Traction company's lines, which will leave the station here directly after the morning dispatch at 9:04.

A crowd of several hundred is expected because of the widespread interest that is being taken in the enterprise. Tickets are selling rapidly and the committee would like everyone who anticipates making the trip to purchase at once so that it will be possible to make arrangements. It is announced that there will plenty of room so none will have to stand and that ample accommodations will be made for women.

Republicans leaders here have received word that a big delegation is going from Greensburg, accompanied by a band, and that other counties will send large crowds.

FIRE THREATENS AMMUNITION TODAY

WAS INTENDED FOR GERMANY

(By United Press.) New York, Dec. 27.—For the first time since the munitions plot attracted governmental attention, a fire today threatened the destruction of a large supply of ammunition destined for Germany. The origin of the blaze in a warehouse is unknown.

Three million pounds of high power cartridges, several thousand pistols and rifles and a number of modern field pieces were stored in the warehouse by a man named Robert VanCleft. The ammunition is said to have been purchased at the outbreak of the war. The plan was to ship it to South America and then via a neutral European port to Germany.

CHRISTMAS RUSH IS OVER

Although Sacrifices Were Made by Mail Men, no One Receiving Gift Was Disappointed.

THANKS PUBLIC.

Postmaster G. P. Hunt and the entire force at the post office today extended thanks to public through the newspapers for courtesies shown them during the Christmas rush. Only six persons called for mail or asked that their insurance tags be filled out by a clerk. Because of the co-operation of the partons, the mail, which was more than fifty per cent. heavier than last holidays, was handled with greater ease.

Comparative quiet was restored at the postoffice today after the unusual rush of Christmas mail. Although business during the holidays is above the average it is nothing compared to that the last days before Christmas.

Through sacrifices on the post office employees, everyone in Rushville who could be found Christmas day received their gifts. It was five o'clock of that blustering Christmas day when the last foot-weary mail man returned to the office with what few bundles there were undelivered. A few addressed to places downtown closed for the day were not delivered, of course. If the carrier were reasonably certain the person was home though no response came to a ring or knock, the parcel was left. Otherwise, it was returned to the office.

The rural carriers called on their patrons Christmas day as usual. It is the only legal holiday of the year that they make the rounds. The eastbound train was late Christmas morning as usual, and the carriers were delayed in starting, so that most of them did not finish their deliveries until about two o'clock in the afternoon.

The parcel post men had the assistance of the clerks else they would not have completed their deliveries Christmas day. Clarence Cross, with the aid of a wheelbarrow, delivered parcels in Main about noon Christmas day. He had the Christmas packages in large mail bags to keep the mdry and emptied one bag at a time.

Charles Brown and John Worthington helped the parcel post man out with his downtown deliveries and then made all deliveries in Perkins street. Co-operation on the part of Uncle Sam's men that no one should be disappointed about that Christmas gift, but it was a sacrifice for them because they spent the holiday toiling while the big majority of the rest of the people were feasting and enjoying the day.

The outgoing mail this Christmas was heavier than ever before. During the six days before Christmas afternoon alone 396 bags of mail were dispatched from the Rushville office. The clerk on duty in the morning did not count the bags he sent, but it is presumed the increase averaged about the same as the afternoon.

There were thirty-eight more bags dispatched the afternoon and evenings of the last six days than last year, which was the heaviest year up to that time. The increase was larger than the number of bags

Pyorrhea—the disease nearly everybody has

No matter how sound your teeth may seem to be, no matter how you may scoff at the idea of your having this disease, it is a positive fact that the germ which causes it is working now in your teeth.

The appalling discovery of this fact—that the germ which causes pyorrhea is one which inhabits every human mouth—was made over a year ago. Since then dentists have been urging everyone to take special precautions in their daily toilet to prevent this disease from developing in its acute form of bleeding gums, tenderness in chewing and loose teeth.

To meet the need for such a daily treatment and to enable everyone to take the necessary precautions against this disease, a prominent dentist has put his own prescription before the public in the convenient form of Seneco Tooth Paste.

Seneco contains the best corrective and preventive for pyorrhea known to dental science. Used daily it will successfully protect your teeth from this disease. Seneco also contains the best harmless agent for keeping the teeth clean and white. It has a refreshing flavor and leaves a wholesomely clean, cool and pleasant taste in the mouth.

Start the Seneco treatment tonight—full details in the folder wrapped around every tube. Symptoms described. A 25c two oz. tube is sufficient for six or eight weeks of the pyorrhea treatment. Get Seneco at your druggists today, or send 4c in stamps or coin for sample tube and folder. Address The Sentinel Remedies Co., 505 Union Central Bldg., Cincinnati, Ohio.

ALLIANCE TALK ALL FOOLISHNESS

Republicans Regard Story About Watson and McCray as Pure Political Buncombe.

SOME OF RUCKER'S DOPE

Enquirer Correspondent, Taking it as Truth, Says Two Candidates Can't be Blamed.

Robert G. Tucker's political dope in the Enquirer Sunday was that indications pointed to an alliance between the friends of James E. Watson and the friends of Warren T. McCray, candidate for the nomination for governor on the Republican ticket.

Talk of alliances between candidates is regarded as foolish around here. It was stated by some Republicans, after reading Tucker's article, that the mere fact that some of Watson's friends preferred McCray as the candidate for governor did not prove conclusively that there was an alliance. Tucker says McCray seems particularly strong in Shelby, Rush and Henry counties, which are in the district Watson formerly represented in congress. McCray has been strong in these counties from the first, it appears here, because his candidacy appeals to the farmer.

Tucker hastens to explain that neither of the candidates should be blamed for what their enthusiastic friends are doing. He comments on some of the opposition to Watson and recalls some of the things that were used against him in 1908 when he won the nomination for governor. Says Tucker:

On behalf of Watson and McCray it is being said that they ought not be held responsible for the unwisdom of their followers in the various counties, yet it is being pointed out that the latter, at least, are inviting acts of reprisal among the friends of the other candidates.

A feature of the situation that is giving the leaders of the party no little concern is the insistent statement of the opponents of Watson that he can't be elected if nominated. There is a sentiment out-state among men who fear the Progressive vote that it will be difficult to elect Wilson, yet no one knows a year in advance of an election whether a man can win, and the tactics against Watson are liable to bring about a lasting injury to the party if he should be nominated.

Among the McCray boosters, who are very enthusiastic for their chief, there is a disposition to create the impression that Goodrich cannot be elected; that, in fact, McCray is the only candidate who will have a chance on the Republican ticket.

In the fall and winter of 1907, when Watson, C. W. Miller, Hugh T. Miller and William L. Taylor were making a terrific fight to be nominated for Governor, one of the candidates sprung a story that Watson was unfriendly and unfair to organized labor. Men were hired to spread this story about Watson. Petitions were signed and sent to the State Committee to be presented to the state convention protesting against Watson's nomination on the ground that he couldn't be elected.

The men in charge of the state organization had the decency and the courage to burn all of the petitions, so that none of them reached the convention. However, the mischief was accomplished. Watson might have been elected if the county local option planks had not been adopted, but the brewers and the other liquor interests went out and employed the labor leaders who had been lampooning him to aid one his opponents. In spite of all the Republican organization could do, it was unable to bring the union labor forces back into camp.

and win souls for Jesus. Wherever you find a soul-winning church you find a praying church. Wherever you find a man who wins souls for God, you find a praying man.

"If we win souls for Jesus, they must see something in us worth while; something which is worth possessing, at whatever cost. The consistent Christian life is the one that wins souls. After all it is the personal effort that wins for Jesus."

Another mission of the church, he said, is to develop strong, stalwart Christian characters. He declared one of the greatest needs of today to be men who can not be brought for the world's pleasures. To this end, he asserted, the various organizations within the church have their fruitage.

Dr. Jamieson said a third mission of the church is to advance the interests of Christ through missionary activities. He declared it is the part of the church to be unselfish. The greatest heroes the church knows are its missionaries. He said that church is requited to her trust that is not sending the word to others. Dr. Jamieson turned his attention to missionary questions at home.

"If the country is to be held for Jesus," the minister said, "The church must be missionary. It calls for men and money."

He made the assertion that his church here had given more than $5,000 in five years for missionary work outside of Rushville.

The Rushville Ministerial association resolutions regarding the departure of Dr. Jamieson were read at the services by the Rev. C. M. Yocum and were as follows:

"In as much as Dr. A. W. Jamieson has been connected with the Rushville Ministerial Association for the past five years and more, serving as its honored president for a goodly portion of that time, and

"In as much as he has been active in every work in Rushville during that period, laboring most harmoniously with the other ministers and workers, unselfishly connecting himself with every union effort, anxious not only to strengthen the church he most efficiently served as pastor, but to advance the kingdom's interests, and by precept and example honoring our Savior: therefore,

"Be it resolved, that we express our keenest regret at his leaving the city, realizing as we do that we shall miss the advice of a wise counsellor, the guidance of a brave leader, the assistance of an efficient workman and the sweet and sacred fellowship of a true brother in Christ.

"Be it further resolved, that we express our best wishes for his continued success in his new field of labor, and that we assure him that our prayers shall follow him as the memory of our association with him remains with us, a pleasing recollection."

To show its approval of the resolution, the audience, which filled the church to capacity, arose.

indicates. This year there was a shortage of mail bags due to the lack of funds appropriated by congress. This caused an order to be sent from Washington that all bags be well filled, whereas when the supply is plentiful the bags are dispatched in such numbers and filled in such quantities as to make the handling of the mail the most convenient and quickest.

"It shows that the people have been reading the instructions in the newspapers," said Postmaster Hunt today, discussing the mail rush. "Only six persons either called for mail or asked that their insurance tags be filled out. Christmas day we had five men and a horse and wagon delivering parcel post and we had it all out by five o'clock. We all feel deeply indebted to the public for the assistance given us and for the consideration shown the men when their work was heaviest."

Comforting Words

Many a Rushville Household Will Find Them So.

To have the pains and aches of a bad back removed—to be entirely free from annoying, dangerous urinary disorders, is enough to make any kidney sufferer grateful. The following advice of one who has suffered will prove comforting words to hundreds of Rushville readings.

John Heany, 616 West Third street, Rushville, says: "A short time ago I began to have trouble with my kidneys. The secretions passed too frequently both day and night, obliging me to get up several times. The were also highly colored and filled with sediment. My back was weak and lame too. I used Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Johnson's Drug Store, and they relieved me a great deal."

GERMANY WINS OVERLAND ROUTE

Close of Year 1915 is Characterized
by Kaiser Victory on Land
But None on Sea

ECONOMIC PHASE IMPORTANT

Bulgaria's Entrance Into Conflict on
Side of Teutons is Most Prominent Development

By J. W. T. MASON
(Written for United Press.)

New York, Dec. 27.—Germany has won the overland pathway to her place in the sun, as the close of the fighting of 1915 merges into the second winter of the European war. But the seas still remain shut to the Teutons and economic distress and food scarcity are exerting a more pronounced pressure for peace in the Central Empires than among the other belligerent nations.

The primary cause of the war has been lost this year to both of the original participants. The conflict began over the irreconcilable Balkan difference of Russia and Austro-Hungary. Each power wanted to the supreme in Southeastern Europe. The end of the fighting in 1915 finds Russia held in check beyond the Balkan border, while Austro-Hungary is playing a minor military part in Serbia under the direction of Marshal von Mackensen and the German General Staff. German influences are now dominant in the Balkans. The Kaiser has wrested the first prize of the war from the Slavs themselves, and from his own Southern ally as well.

Bulgaria's entrance into the conflict on the side of the Teutons has been the year's most important development. The military consequence which have followed Bulgaria's action, have given to the Germans a clear road from Berlin to Bagdad. The Mesopotamian metropolis has long been marked by German statesmen to become the Berlin of the Middle East and the center of Germany's place in the sun. The year's events having opened for Germany the rear entrance into Bagdad, the Kaiser must continue to fight to the point of exhaustion for permanent possession of this precious right of way. The British fleet can prevent Germany from expanding overseas, but it cannot block the road to the new empire in the east. This is the dominant reason for Germany's interest in Bagdad.

An Anglo-Indian expedition, after twelve months' toil northward through Mesopotamia from the Persian Gulf, is now trying to enter Bagdad by the front door. But the Turks under German leadership have thrust the invaders ninety miles to the south of Bagdad, and the city at the close of the year remains safe for the Teutons. Nevertheless, during the year's fighting, the British have captured the Garden of Eden and other territory between the Tigris and Euphrates rivers greatly desired by Germany. If the German dream of a Teutonic Empire in the Middle East is to come true, the district between Bagdad and the Garden of Eden, 250 miles to the south, must either be won by a new military offensive, or purchased in the peace conference after this war.

The military developments of the year make it certain that the Russian bear will not be able to take his drink of warm water at the Persian Gulf; and little less than a miracle must now happen to give the Czar Constantinople for an outlet to the unfrozen seas. The British effort to enter Constantinople by way of the Gallipoli Peninsula has failed during the year, and Great Britain is now reluctant to undertake a second costly experiment in southeastern Europe for Russia's sake. The ease with which the Teutons and Bulgarians have been able to overrun Serbia apparently has been due to Great Britain's disinclination to risk waning her strength in a major Balkan offensive. The odds all favor the Teutonic allies in the Balkans because of their unimpeded lines of communication.

British interest in the Balkan campaign is primarily due to its bearing on the security of Egypt. Lord Kitchener's visit to the Levant during the latter part of the year and his quick return, seem to have created a belief in London that Egypt is not in any immediate jeopardy. The British now apparently have concluded that Egypt can be better defended along the Suez Canal than in the Balkans. The advantage of communication, which the Germans possess in the Balkans, would pass to the British if the Teutons and Turks were to attempt an offensive by crossing the desert to the east of Suez.

The Russians however, are urgently pressing Great Britain to pursue the Balkan campaign. Otherwise the Czar will probably be the war's principal loser. His own troops, waiting, as the year ends, to invade Bulgaria by way of Rumania, can hardly prove equal to the task unassisted. The Teutons, Bulgarians and Turks have certainly 700,000 men available for Balkan operations and this force might possibly be increased to a million. Unquestionably differences of opinion have arisen among the allies during the year because of divergent Balkan military policies. The conflicting interests have not been reconciled in detail as the year ends.

Russia's defeat on her own soil by the combined Austro-Hungarian and German offensives this summer was not sufficiently decisive to cause the Czar to sue for a separate peace. The Grand Duke Nicholas saved the greater part of his armies, and although he was removed from his command because of the loss of Galicia and the Vistula defenses, he prevented the Kaiser from compelling the Czar to surrender. The Russian military failure was followed by the suppression of the Duma, the popular legislative body, and the council of the Empire, the bureaucratic legislative house. The Czar, is now governing by fiat as a complete autocrat, relying neither on the people themselves nor on the bureaucracy.

The year has seen no change of importance along the western battle-front. The French in Champagne, and the French and British in Artois, attempted to develop a simultaneous major offensive during the last week in September, but without success. The Germans lost a few miles of trenches, but they were able to check the enemy before the drives threatened to compel a general retirement toward the German frontier. The result of the costly experiment showed that the Teutonic trenches are not impregnable, but also revealed the fact that the Anglo-French general staffs have not solved the problem of following up one successful attack by another in the face of German artillery.

Italy's entrance into the war this year has had disappointing results for Great Britain, Russia and France. The Italians, after seven months' fighting have not gained as much territory as Austria offered to cede last Spring in exchange for Italy's benevolent neutrality. The principal factor working against Italian success has been the superiority which trench warfare gives to an army on the defensive. The Roman government is now facing serious though subdued criticism at home. As the year ends, there are reports that pressure is being exerted in favor of the return to power of the veteran pro-German ex-premier Giolitti. Italy has signed an agreement with the other members of the Quadruple Entente not to make a separate peace, but if Signor Giolitti were to be made Prime Minister he would undoubtedly use his influence for peace at the earliest moment.

The financial situation among all the belligerents has steadily grown more and more serious as the expenses of the conflict during the year have ceaselessly mounted. The total daily cost of the war is now about $85,000,000, two-thirds of which is being paid by the Quadruple Entente, and one-third by Germany and her allies. The British, who have been most lavish in their payments, have also been the most sincere in facing the critical monetary problems of the war. Great Britain alone among the belligerents has begun to shoulder the financial burden of the conflict by accepting large war taxes. Elsewhere the war is prolonged almost exclusively on borrowed money. It is probable that the exhaustion of golden bullets, and the accompanying danger of economic disaster, will be the prin-

Buy Advertised Brands — They're Best
"Trade-marked" articles—things sold by NAME or DISTINGUISHING and IDENTIFYING BRANDS—must be kept at the highest standard of quality. The VALUE must never vary. For a maker to "cheapen" such an article would be to throw away the prestige he had fought so hard, and advertised so effectively, to gain.
